FROM THE PASTOR—SANCTIFYING THE WEEK

We discussed last week what it means to observe the day of the Lord on Sunday and the importance of this observance. I would like to discuss here how it is we can sanctify the rest of the week. While Sunday is the pinnacle for the Christian, this does not mean that we ought to ignore or disregard God on all the other days.

The first day after Sunday which should come to our mind as a Christian is Friday. It was on a Friday that Jesus suffered and died on the Cross because of our sins. Friday has been from the earliest days of the Church a day of penance and remembrance of the Passion. Traditionally, Catholics refrained from eating fleshmeat or meat products on this day as part of that penitential observance. We could stand to return to this practice not only as a penance but as a means of hitting back at the world's attitude of Friday as a party day.

Saturday has been observed in two different yet complementary ways. The first is to observe this day in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Just as Saturday leads to Sunday, so too does Mary lead us to Jesus. We should make some extra devotion to her in our prayers on this day. Saturday is also seen as a day of preparation for observing Sunday as the Lord's day. We should strive to go to confession on Saturday and do all we can so that we may rest in the Lord after Sunday Mass.

Wednesday is often dedicated to the memory of Saint Joseph. The humble worker of God and guardian of the Holy Family should remind us that we are called to do our part in working with Christ and working for Christ. While God has done the brunt of the labor through the Passion, Death, and Resurrection of His Son, we are still meant to bear the Cross with Jesus, and we can do that through our work, whether at our jobs or at home.

The other days are pretty simple. Monday is seen as remembering the souls in Purgatory and praying for them. Tuesday is devoted to the angels who serve God and remind us of our call to holiness. Thursday is in honor of the Blessed Sacrament, since it was on this day that our Lord instituted the Eucharist for our nourishment and our adoration.

Whatever day it may be, we ought to give it all to God and devote ourselves to the main task of our lives: becoming the saints He created us to be. Let us not grow slack before God but strive to serve Him in everything. Let us consecrate each day to His love and service, especially through the aid of the Blessed Virgin Mary, so that we may be worthy to leave this time and enter into the glories of eternity.

Fr. Jacob Straub

NB: I am on retreat this week, so I will be away until Saturday morning. Please pray for me and know that you will be in my prayers.
